LOYOLA COLLEGE
EVERGREEN
1974

DEDICATION

EMIL G. "LEFTY" REITZ, JR.

"Work is love made visible"—K. Gibran

GENTLEMEN–EDUCATOR–COACH–FRIEND

These four words describe the way in which the many hundreds of former Loyola College athletes and students remember Lefty Reitz. Few, if any, will dispute the fact that first and foremost he is a gentleman, both on and off the athletic field.

He is an educator in the ideal sense because he exerts a formative influence on the individual and the team.

As a coach he built teams and he built them to win, but never at the sacrifice of sportsmanship or player integrity. It is hard to exaggerate the influence for good that he exerted.

As a friend, although an adult, Lefty has been happily accepted over the years by all the young men at EVERGREEN because he spoke their language. He is a man who had a ready ear for a problem and who was ready to exult with you in success.

In addition to being Athletic Director at Loyola College for 33 years, and coaching basketball and baseball, Lefty found time to become involved in many professional and civic organizations. His professional affiliations are member of Athletic Directors Association, Baseball Coaches Association, Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, Past President of the Mason-Dixon Conference and three terms as treasurer. At the present time, he is Commissioner of the conference.

There are many more facts and figures that could be cited about this man, Reitz, but they aren't strong enough to picture him. Perhaps this is. When graduates of smallish Loyola College look back and compare the advantages and disadvantages of attending a small friendly school rather than a large impersonal university, one of the advantages they must recall without exception is having known Lefty Reitz. Few men have given more of themselves to any institution than Emil G. Reitz, Jr. has given to Loyola College. Under his influence boys have become not only men, but gentlemen.

With love, honor, pride, and sincerity, we the Class of 1974, dedicate this yearbook to a great man, Mr. Lefty Reitz.

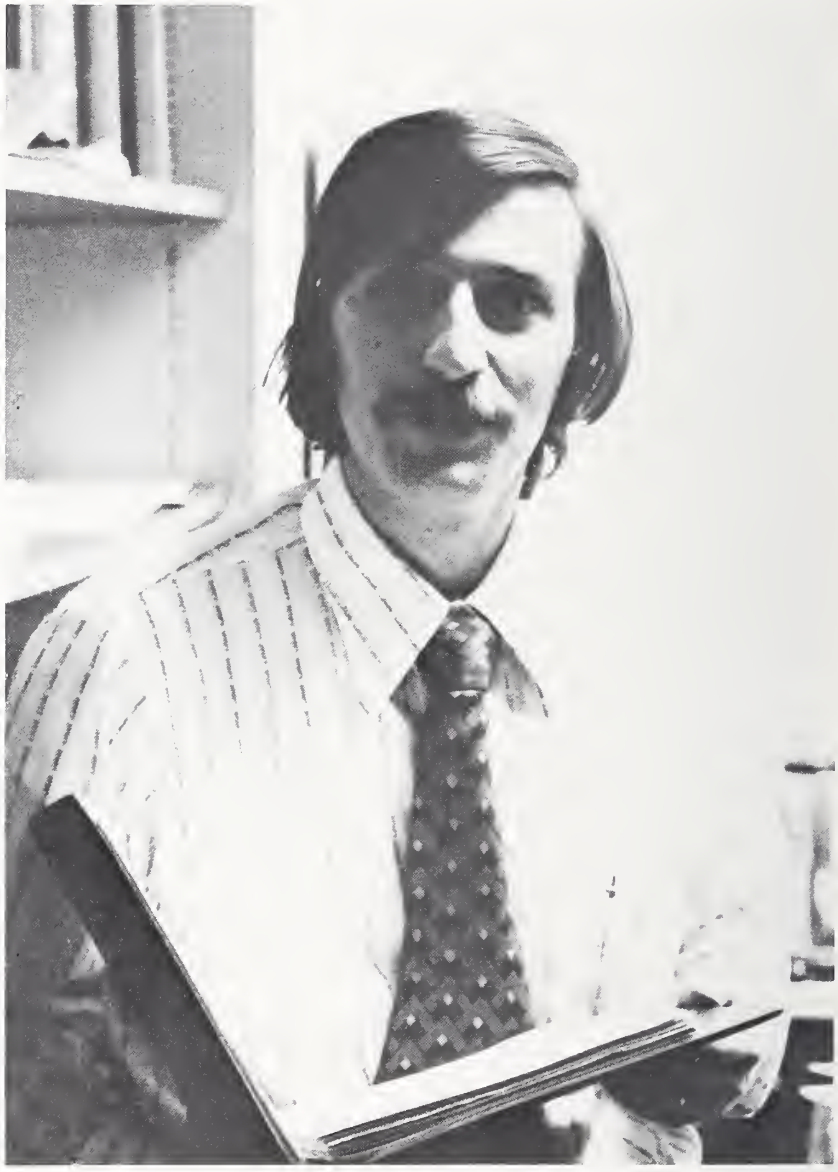
JANUARY TERM



Edward J. Riehl

We would like to thank Mr. Riehl and workers Greg Miller, Dee Boulier, Eileen Fox, and Carla DiChica, for all the long, hard hours they have labored in making the January Term a success. We hope that in the future the January Term Program will continue to be beneficial and memorable to the students, as it has for those who have graduated.

Edward "Nap" Doherty

When the Basketball season starts next December, there will be someone different sitting in the coach's seat on the Loyola bench. That person will be in a tough position because he has a rough spot to fill. It is not easy replacing a man who has given 21 years of his life to a school.

Nap Doherty, the man being replaced, summed it up best when he said, five days after he was fired, "I'll always be a Loyola man."

Hopefully, the Loyola student body will remember Nap's accomplishments and his character rather than how he was released. At this school, he was more than just a Basketball coach. He was the director of the Intramural Program, a friend to many students, and a counselor for the Basketball players as well.

The 164-153 record is not really a true testimony to what Nap gave to Loyola. Possessing one of the best basketball minds in the area, he guided Loyola to two Mason-Dixon championships in four years. He accomplished this with one of the smallest recruiting budgets around.

Nap was a fierce competitor, but he never failed to put things in proper perspective. He was a believer in 100% effort because that's the way he played back in 1953 when his team won the Mason-Dixon crown. At the same time, he did not think that winning should be accomplished at any cost.

Perhaps the best testimony to Nap will be paid when this next season starts. He will be missed most then.

Coach), John Schissler (Manager)

The 1973-74 basketball season at Loyola could be best described as unusual. It was a season that started in great anticipation and ended in total frustration.

After winning the Mason-Dixon title the year before, Nap Doherty's Hounds were eager to defend their title when they opened the Schaefer Metropolitan Tournament against Coppin State. However, the frustration of the 94-91 loss was to be repeated many times within the next three months. Consolation round wins over U.M.B.C. and Johns Hopkins lessened the disappointment for the time being.

On a northern road trip, Loyola nipped Widener, 60-58, on a last-second shot by Kevin Robinson in overtime. Two nights later, the Hounds scared St. Bonaventure before finally succumbing, 96-82. A 78-67 win over Washington College in the home opener sent Loyola into the Christmas break with a 4-2 record.

After Christmas, Loyola won its first three games over Baltimore U., Western Maryland, and Scranton. The Scranton game was especially significant because Gene Gwiazdowski scored the 1,000th point of his career with one second left in the game. This was the high point of the year as the Hounds, on a four-game winning streak, were 7-2, their best start in years.

However, hard times hit as Loyola dropped four of its next five, including a 108-71 embarrassment at Roanoke. The Hounds were revived briefly to surprise American U., 95-84, but a 12-7 record going into the Roanoke rematch of February 11 was still disappointing.

The Roanoke game had to be the turning point of the season. Rumors had been flying that Nap would not be back. He denied them, but the feeling was still present.

On February 11, before a packed house at Evergreen, Roanoke opened the game by nearly running the Hounds out of their own gym. However, Loyola did not quit and came back strongly in the second half before bowing in the final minutes 85-81.

That disappointing loss had a strong psychological effect. Losses to lowly Salisbury State, Georgetown, and Towson State followed.

An 81-67 loss to Hopkins in the season's next-to-last game was particularly costly as starting center Mark Rhode fractured his ankle. At practice the next day, Morris Cannon sprained his ankle. In the home finale against Mount St. Mary's, a valiant effort by the depleted Hounds yielded only a 91-89 defeat.

A freak injury to John Morris, a freshman standout, sidelined him for the Mason-Dixon Tournament game against B.U. Gene "Gwiaz" sprained his ankle prior to the game, but still managed to play and score 23 points. The 89-72 loss was his final game as well as senior Mike Castillo's. What no one realized at the time was that it was also Nap's last game. Four days later, he was released.

A 12-14 record, four major injuries (Jim Daly, Cannon, Rhode, and Morris), seven straight losses, and a fired coach were all characteristics of the '73-74 Hounds.

The 1973-74 Basketball Captain was Gene Gwiazdowski. On January 9, he joined the "1000 point Club" becoming the 10th Greyhound to gain membership. Gene wasn't quite finished with his scoring career and by February 28, he became the 5th all time leading scorer.

Film Festival Program A Success

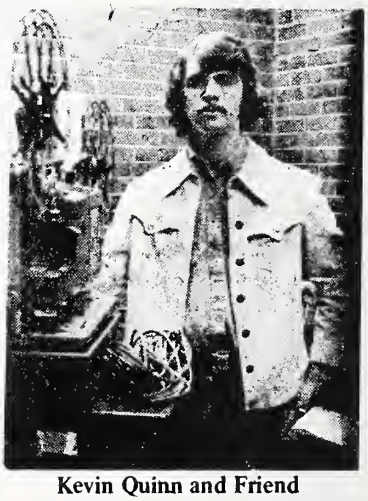
"This semester, we hope to break even.;" Kevin Quinn, director of the Loyola Film Festival says that the movies this spring promise to be the best so far.

"We lost $250 last fall because of carry over bills from the past. The January Film Festival was free because of $300 contributed by Ed Riehl, co-ordinator of January Term Office."

Loyola has a contract with Warner Brothers to pay them $.65 from each admission. The extra $.15 above the regular $.50 admission charge comes from profits obtained by the previous picture shown.

Some of the films that will be shown this semester will be Woodstock, The New Centurions and other recent pictures. Next year, Mr. Quinn says that he will get The Godfather, Deliverance, Clockwork Orange, Day of the Jackal and Jesus Christ Superstar.

With the purchase of a second projector and permanent equipment, Mr. Quinn says that the film festival promises to be an annual event.



Kevin Quinn and Friend

Congratulations to Kevin Quinn and workers for making the film festival a huge success. We'd like to thank Kevin for giving us something to do on a Sunday night besides studying!

State of the College Address

Hanway Addresses Sparse Crowd

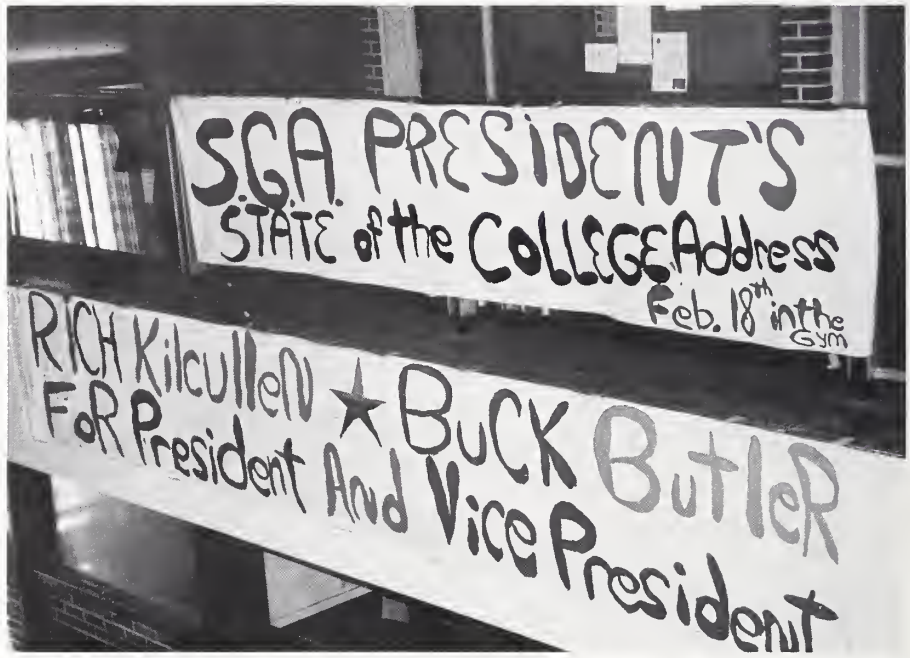
By George A. Epstein

SGA president Ed Hanway made his State of the College address Monday in a nearly-vacant gym.

After he finished his prepared text, he added an unplanned endorsement of Rich Kilkullen to be his successor in office.

The major portion of the speech itself was devoted to a look at the "college function" from the viewpoint of the faculty, administration, and students. He found reason to praise each of the three groups; on the other hand, he pointed out things that he believes they are each doing wrong.

When the address began, there were only 42 people present. They had started coming in shortly before the scheduled noon starting time; and more kept straggling in throughout the speech, which began a few minutes late, until there were 56 listeners by the statement's end.



McMAHON ELECTED SG PRESIDENT

By John Franklin

Junior Neil McMahon was elected President of the Student Government Association yesterday by the narrow margin of 32 votes over Rich Kilcullen.

Ed Illiano, McMahon's running mate, ran away with the Vice-Presidential spot leaving his closest competition 100 votes behind.

Bill Donelly and Mark Molli were elected sophomore class senators. Al DiLella and Tom Surface were chosen senators from the junior class.

Student turnout at the polls was fair with a little more than one-third of the students voting.

McMahon received 88 votes from the senior and freshman classes, 55 from the sophomore class, and 77 from the junior class, for a total of 220 votes.

Kilcullen received 86 votes from the senior and freshman classes, 44 from the sophomore class, and 58 from the junior class, for a total of 188 votes.

Sophomore Bob O'Reilly tallied 58 votes from the seniors and freshman, 57 from the sophomores, and 22 from the juniors, for a total of 137 votes.

In the contest for vice-president, Illiano racked up 109 from the seniors and frosh, 75 from the sophomores, and 79 from the juniors, totaling 253 votes.

Independent Mike Little scored 74 votes in the senior and freshman classes, 42 in the soph class, and 37 in the junior class, for a total of 153 tallies.

Kilcullen running-mate Buck Butler captured 51 votes in the senior and freshman classes, 39 in the sophomore class, and 42 in the junior class, totaling 132 votes.

Bill Donelly received 108 votes in the sophomore senatorial give-away, and Mark Molli posted 87 votes.

Tom Surface boasted 97 votes while Al DiLella received 94 in the junior senatorial election.

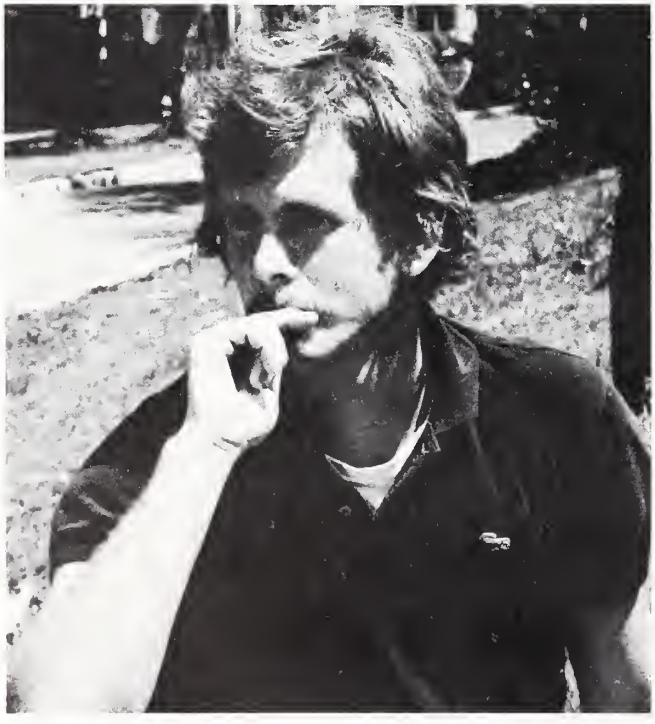
Whether it be a tan, load or reunion you're interested in–it's a guaranteed good time. Some say if you're lucky or sober enough, you may even catch a quick horse race.

FUN DAY



We would like to congratulate Kevin Robinson, and all those who worked with him in making Fun Day a success. We hope that the student body of Loyola will continue to find ways to add a little more "fun" to life.

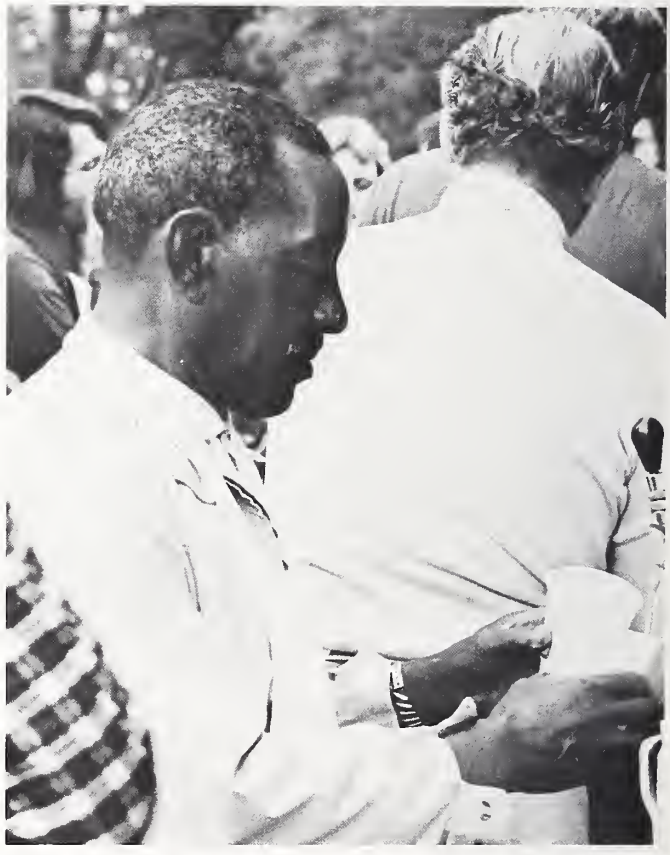
Loyola's answer to Ringling Bros. Three Ring Circus. Entertained by magicians, monkeys, and a gorilla, Loyola students and faculty regressed to a childhood fascination and had a great time.



It was a day for disproving the old "generation gap" cliche, when students got together with faculty and administration for softball, socializing and tribute to distinguished members of the Loyola College Community.

TEACHER OF THE YEAR

Mrs. Malke L. Morris—First female professor of Loyola to receive this award.

"It's a natural achievement,
Conquering my homework,
With her image, pounding in my brain,
She's an inspiration,
For my graduation,
And she helps to keep the classroom sane
. . . Oh, teacher I need you . . ."

IN APPRECIATION

The Evergreen Staff would like to extend its heartfelt appreciation to

Father Frank Haig, our advisor, for all his patience and assistance throughout the year

Mr. Coy Harris, representative from Bradbury-Keller, for being the best friend a yearbook staff ever had

Mr. Abe Orlick, proprietor of Davor Photo, for his support and ALL those extras

Roommates and parents, for tolerating the mess and complaints and finally to anyone who contributed to make this year's Evergreen a success

FAREWELL

We who have graduated wish to leave to you who will remain at Loyola something born of ourselves, a legacy of our work and ingenuity. This, The Evergreen '74, is a final and supreme effort in the name of our Alma Mater.

The staff of this year's Evergreen has labored long and hard to make this yearbook worthy of the students that it represents. We only hope that each of you will be proud in the years to come to look at your yearbook and say "This is Loyola College."
